

PUBLICATIONS

Messerschmidt, W., & Muttart, J. Statistical Analysis of Event Data Collected by Heavy Trucks (2009). Warrendale, PA; Society of Automotive Engineers (in press).

Muttart, J. W., Fisher, D. L., Pollatsek, A., & Knodler, M. (2007). Driving Without a Clue: Evaluation of Driver Simulator Performance During Hands-Free Cell Phone Operation in a Work Zone, Transportation Research Board of the National Academies, Volume 2018. Safety and Human Performance, pp. 9-14.

Muttart, J. W., Fisher, D. L., Pollatsek, A., & Knodler, M. (2007). Driving Simulator Evaluation of Driver Performance during Hands-Free Cell Phone Operation in a Work Zone: Driving without a Clue (Technical Paper No. 07-2873). Washington, DC: Transportation Research Board and Texas A&M Work zone Clearing House.

Messerschmit, W., & Muttart, J. W. (2005). Investigating Rear end collisions, First Contact: Newsletter for the Illinois Accident Investigator, 10(2), 6-9.

Muttart, J. W. (2005). Quantifying Driver Response Times Based upon Research and Real Life Data, 3rd International Driving Symposium on Human Factors in Driver Assessment, Training, and Vehicle Design, 3, 8-29.

Muttart, J. W. (2005). Factors that Influence Drivers' Response Choice Decisions in Video Recorded Crashes (Technical paper No. 2005-01-0426). Warrendale, PA: Society of Automotive Engineers.

Muttart, J. W., Messerschmidt, W., & Gillen, L. (2005). Relationship between Relative Velocity Detection and Driver Response Times in Vehicle Following Situations (Technical paper No. 2005-01-0427). Warrendale, PA: Society of Automotive Engineers.

Muttart, J. W. (2004). Estimating Driver Response Times, (2004). Handbook of Human Factors in Litigation (Noy & Karkowski Ed.), (Ch. 14) Boca Raton, FL: CRC Press (Taylor & Francis) 14-1 – 14-24.

Muttart, J. W. (2004). Examining the Myth of Perceptual Tropism or the Moth-to-flame Phenomena: Myth Busted! Impact, 13, 64-68.

Muttart, J. W. (2004). Problemy rekonstrukcji wypadkow drogowych (Road Accident Reconstruction Problems), (Ch. 30) Driver response in various environments estimated empirically. Krakow, PL: Institute of Forensic Research Publishers.

Muttart, J. W. (2004). Driver Response Choice: A Comparison of Actual Responses to Decision Making Theory, Australasian & South Pacific Association of Collision Investigators Biennial Conference Proceedings, Auckland, New Zealand.

Muttart, J. W. (2004). DRIVE³: A Simplified method for estimating driver response, Australasian & South Pacific Association of Collision Investigators Biennial Conference Proceedings, Auckland, New Zealand.

Muttart, J. W. (2003). Driver Response in Various Environments Estimated Empirically (DRIVE³) co-author computer program (10/2003) owned and sold by REC-TEC, LLC.

Muttart, J. W. (2003). Evaluation of Methods for Estimating Driver Response Times, Institute of Traffic

Accident Investigators 2003 Conference Proceedings, Stratford-upon-Avon, England.

Muttart, J. W. (2003). Development and evaluation of driver perception-response equations based upon meta-analysis, (Technical paper no. 2003-01-0885). Warrendale, PA: Society of Automotive Engineers.

Muttart, J. W. (2004). Development and evaluation of driver perception-response equations based upon meta-analysis, SAE 2003 Transactions Journal of Passenger Cars - Mechanical Systems after being judged by a panel of engineering experts to be among the most outstanding SAE technical papers of 2003.

Muttart, J. W. (2002). Development and evaluation of driver perception-response equations based upon prior experimental research, Master's Thesis, University of Hartford.

Muttart, J. W. (2001). Evaluation of the Influence of Several Variables upon Driver Perception Response Times, Institute of Traffic Accident Investigators 2001 Conference Proceedings. York, England.

Muttart, J. W. (2000). The Influences of Age-Related Development upon Child Pedestrian and Bicyclist Collisions, 2000. Accident Reconstruction Journal, 11(1), 34-42.

Muttart, J. W. (2000). Effects of Retroreflective Material upon Pedestrian Recognition at Night, Accident Reconstruction Journal, 11(1), 51-57. Also presented at the ASTM Subcommittee Meeting on the establishment of Standards for Safety Clothing. Washington, DC: NHTSA, 1998.

Muttart, J. W. (1997). The Effects of Left Turn Lanes on Driver Behavior and Accident Rates, New England Chronicle [New England Section of the Institute of Transportation Engineers].

Muttart, J. W. (1996). "Vehicle Acceleration: Observations and Test Results", Accident Investigation Quarterly, Sp. 1996.

Muttart, J. W. (1995). The Cognitive Abilities and Characteristics of Children Pedestrians Involved in Accidents, Accident Investigation Quarterly.

Muttart, J. W. (1992). Area of Impact Determinations, The Legal Investigator, November 1992.

Muttart, J. W. (1991). Post Impact Seat Belt Examination, The Legal Investigator, Aug. 1991.

Muttart, J. W. (1991). Post Impact Seat Belt Examination, Accident Reconstruction Journal, May/June 1991.

Proceedings Research

Muttart, J. W., Northrop, J., Russell, G., Reynolds, M., Muir, B., & Muttart, M. (2003). Identification distances of pedestrians & objects at night, Canadian Association of Technical Accident Investigators Annual Meeting. Burlington, Ont.

Muttart, J. W., Yosko, M., Vandenberg, G., Bartlett, W., Gillen, L. (2005). Human Factors Research Results, South Carolina Accident Reconstruction Society Annual Proceedings. Charleston, SC.

Yosko, M. & Muttart, J. (2006). Pedestrian recognition distances at night. Proceedings of the Texas Association of Accident Reconstruction Specialists, Houston, TX.

Muttart, J., Squire, R., Lewis, G. & Russell, G. (2006). Pedestrian and retroreflective detection distances at night. Maryland Association of Traffic Accident Investigators, Hanover, MD.

Muttart, J., Zwicker, K., Daneff, G. & Tupper, A. (2006). Pedestrian and retroreflective detection distances at night. Canadian Association of Traffic Accident Investigators & Reconstructionists, Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Muttart, J., Vandenberg, G., Yosko, M., Connelly, J., Adamson, K., Moebes, T., Lohf, D., Thornhill, J., Long, M., & Ramirez, C. (2006). F3T2 World Reconstruction Exposition, Houston, TX.

Muttart, J., Hitchens, J., Eubanks, J. , Mainzer, G. (2007). Delaware State Police, Dover, DE.